

Accessing AFMS DL Courses in AFMSLearn

The Army Force Management School [AFMS] has created a library of distributed learning courses to support the learning needs of Soldiers, Civilians and leaders Army wide. This library is available to users in the AFMS Learning Management System-AFMSLearn. Access to AFMSLearn is restricted to users with US Army soldiers, civilians, and contractors with active email addresses in the GAL. To access these courses, you can use your active (if you were previously enrolled in a course at AFMS) or create an account using the instructions below.

1. Navigate to AFMSLearn using Microsoft Edge browser.
(<https://www.afmslearn.net>)
2. Select "Create new account"
3. Complete ALL fields on the new account creation page
4. Select "Create my new account"
5. You will receive an email from the AFMSLearn site that requires you to follow a link to verify your account

Notes:

If you do not receive an email in your inbox check your SPAM or your trash folders as the email system may filter out the response email.

If you receive an error message contact Mr. Lance Robinson for support at lance.a.robinson10.ctr@army.mil

6. Once your account is created you can self enroll in any of our DL courses. Select the DL course you wish to access using the Courses menu on the AFMS website (<https://www.afms.edu>)
